

Sandscript

Volume 1 Issue 5

26 October, 1999

On the Mediterranean Sea

Photo by Petty Officer 2nd Class, Joe Rehana, Fifth Fleet PAO

On Oct. 21st Egyptian Naval Ship (ENS) Taba fired an SM1 (Standard Missile) during Bright Star 99/00. In the background is the Greek ship, HS Hydra.

Over There!

Photo by Staff Sgt. Jeff Troth, Third Army PAO

Gmal Adu Elnor, commander of the Egyptian Tactical Training Center points out action on the battlefield as U.S. Maj. Gen. Michael T. Gaw, Central Command Bright Star director, watches the action through binoculars.

Photo courtesy of U.S. Navy

Egyptian and U.S. Navy special forces train in the Mediterranean Sea using a mini-submarine near a decommissioned dry-dock as part of Bright Star 99/00.

Photo by Italian Army Capt. Rodolfo Cocceancig, Pozzuolo Del Friuli Calvary Brigade

Genova Calvary Armored Fighting Vehicles (AFV) return to camp after field exercises with British, French and American units during Bright Star 99/00. The desert environment is new to the regiment, which traces its history back to the 2nd Calvary Brigade founded in 1835

Enlargements of the re-enlistment photos taken with Maj. Gen. Gaw at the pyramids are in. Command Sgt. Maj. Morrison (ARCENT) will be distributing them in the next few days.

A Blackhawk prepares to fly an Italian officer to a hospital shortly after he suffered from a heart attack during the coalition live fire exercise.

Photo by Army PV2 Adam Nuelken

Food service is just one of the many tasks for Army Spec. Mamie Sullen, 335th Signal Command (left).

Photo by U.S. Army Pfc. Danny Martin, 350th

This is the final issue of the Sandscript for Bright Star 99/00. We wish to thank all of those who contributed to it's success. Best wishes to the airmen, civilians, marines, sailors and soldiers of the coalition, who made this exercise a great one.
Best wishes from the Sandscript staff.